TWENTY-FOURTH YEAR. VOL. XXIII, NO. 29.

A Woman at the Bottom of It.

When the French detective discovers a crime his first impulse leads him to say, "Search for the woman," intimating that a woman is the indirect cause; as woman first led man—poor creature—into the first transgression. Perhaps man may do many silly or unwise things at the behest of the "object of his affections," and possibly commit crime through his infatuation for her; but it is true woman has a wonderful influence over man, and the light hearted and those with their "heads turned" may be more susceptible of the feminine influence.

Imagine Adam, after God had poured upon him the glory of Eden and made the world his footstool, that he was so much impressed with his importance as to become weak and vainglorious, and at Eve's prompting, under this state of imbecility, he took upon himself the management of the empire and swayed its destiny. Ever since Adam took the reins of state unto himself man has been following in the line of his illustrious predecessor, with woman his helpmeet and guide.

The world is full of suggestions and the student of history has no need to go back of this century to find a parallel of the event of his time. The same impulse that animated Eve's pride and ambition has followed along down the ages.

The suggestion that if Dewey got the Presidential chair he would turn it over to his wife, as he did the house presented to him by the generous people of the United States—an abdication complete and overwhelming—reminds Col. Dick Evans of this city of the time when the Admiral's wife was the wife of an officer of the army stationed at Fort Hays in the 70's. Colonel Evans describes Mrs. Dewey as a woman fond of display, a desire to manage and always keeping at the head of society matters at the Fort. She was a dainty woman, particularly fond of dress and keeping in the line of the latest approved fashions. Whirl games and other amusements served to relieve the monotony of barracks life, and to these the leader of the fort society devoted much attention. To be on Mrs. Hazen's list was a privilege officers and civilians felt proud. Deference to the authority of barracks etiquette was one of the attributes of soldier life. No military commander exercised greater power than the mistress of the domestic camp. While the legal and lawful authority found its source in the seat of government at Washington, the less and unwritten authority—but no less important—came by a consent and a tact woman so well knows how to employ.

Mrs. Dewey has lost none of the tact of camp life. Her vivacity and ambition is as fresh in the foggy atmosphere of the capital city as when youth charmed the life in the hazy mirage of the plains 30 years ago. Newspaper reports attribute to the wife of the hero of Manila a want to make a deeper hold in the social life of Washington, and to shape the destiny of this life throughout the nation. With a man so ready to concede to a woman's whim, and to darken theuster of his fame for a presidential nomination, this government might relapse in his hands, and the scepter sway in the control of frivolity and fashion. Might not there be a revival of ancient times when woman held the destiny of the people in one hand and acknowledged the caprice and whims with the other, and where loves and intrigues were as much a part of diplomacy as matters of state?

Our country is willing to pay Admiral Dewey all the honor he deserves, but it is not quite ready to sacrifice itself at woman's caprice or the capriciousness of politicians, who may expect to make a political turn on man's fame, through his weakness or imbecility.

In almost every neighborhood there is some one whose life has been saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, or who has been cured of chronic diarrhoea by the use of that medicine. Such persons make a point of telling of it whenever opportunity offers, hoping that it may be the means of saving other lives. For sale by W. S. Amos.

RESOLVED—That in the death of Comrade Edwin Acker, Louis Post No. 204, Department of Kansas, has lost a worthy and true comrade, the Nation one of its bravest defenders in the days of its peril, the community a worthy citizen, his family a loving husband and father. That the sympathy of Louis Post be extended to his wife and family, and that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Post and printed in the city papers.

Kansas paid $3,033,248.40 in salaries to teachers of the common schools during the past year. These totals were taken from the reports of the various county superintendents and will be published in the forthcoming report of the state superintendent of schools. Wyandotte paid the most for teachers' hire of any county in the state—$129,810.86, Shawnee came second with $113,485.02, Stanton paid the least—$210.82. Ford county paid $15,045.

Two weeks ago the GLOBE-REPUBLICAN published an advertisement for Sims & Sims, which was one of the many advertisements for which prizes were offered by D. M. A Cool Summer.

Hicks, in Word and Works, predicts a cool summer. He says: "From the beginning of our work we have often suggested that cooler weather was probable, when a number of planets were on the same side of the sun, diverting much of the solar energy from our planet. We will have the opportunity of a life time to study the question during the next three months. All the planets, except Mars and Neptune will be near the same longitude of the heavens with the Earth, until the end of July, as may be seen in the diagrams in our 1900 Almanac."

How He Worked the Change.

A modest looking individual entered one of our grocery stores Monday and in a hurried manner asked for five cents of tobacco. Fumbling in his pockets for a while and failing to find it he handed the storekeeper a ten dollar bill. Change was made with a five dollar bill and four dollars and ninety-five cents in silver. Handing the purchaser the five dollar bill which he puts in his pocket, the silver still lying on the counter, the purchaser "finds" his nickel and putting it on the four dollars ninety-five cents, says "Now give me a five dollar bill for this," which is handed to him. Shoving the money towards the storekeeper the purchaser says "You have got your money; give back my ten dollar bill and take this." The exchange was made and by the time the fellow was out of sight the storekeeper discovered that he was short five dollars. The fellow who played the slick game did not have the appearance of being a sharper, and the game could have been played on any one, unsuspectingly, in the hurry and confusion of waiting on customers.

The fellow evidently followed the minstreels, and while the band was playing on the streets and during the excitement was the time when the change racket was made.

No particular effort was made to find the fellow but he seemed to vanish like the illusion of a mirage under the rays of the hot sun. But it serves to show that it is necessary to be on the lookout for dishonest people.

The Best in the World.

We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for colds and coughs.—The Herald, Andersonville, Ind. For sale by W. S. Amos.

JUDGE PRICE TO RETURN.

May Again be Candidate for District Judge.

A prominent business man of this city, who was formerly an official of Comanche county and a great friend of Judge Francis C. Price, has received a letter from Judge Price, saying that he would like to come back to Kansas, and the probabilities are that he will do so during the present summer, returning to his former home at Ashland, Clark county, Kansas. Judge Price was for ten years judge of the district court of the Thirty-first judicial district of Kansas and as a judge he was deservedly popular with the bar and the people.

The bar of that district will hail his coming with considerable delight, as he has always been a prime favorite with them. Last fall the judge resigned his position as judge and removed to Sandusky, Ohio, which is the home of his wife's people. In his letter Judge Price indicates that he is very much dissatisfied with his present field and the climate, and longs for the prairies of Kansas. It is altogether likely that Judge Price, when he returns, will be a candidate for his old place as judge of the district court, there being an election in that district this fall—Wichita Eagle, Sunday.

The people of this district will gladly welcome Judge Price's return, but they will hardly give him the judgeship. Judge Madison gave up a lucrative law practice to accept the judgeship, and to his election Judge Price would heartily concur.

World's Biggest Apple Orchard.

A telegram from Leavenworth states that the prospects for a big fruit crop never looked brighter than at present in Kansas. Apples, peaches and all kinds of fruit trees passed through the winter without injury from freezing, and the budding and blossoming are coming along nicely. So far there has not been the slightest injury from frost.

The planting of several large orchards is now in progress in the eastern section of the state. A force of men, mostly veterans from the soldiers home, are working, planting 12,000 apple trees on the farm of ex-Gov. E. N. Morrill, south of Leavenworth, near the Leavenworth and Wyandotte County lines.

There have been 450 acres of this farm set out in apple trees within three years, and in two years more there will be 800 acres of land in one body in apple trees on the farm. It will be the largest apple orchard in one body in the world when completed. At present the rows of apple trees are one mile and a quarter long. They are sixteen feet apart and straight. The 12,000 trees are planted under the supervision of Francis Goble, an expert horticulturist. Most of the trees are of the Jonathan, Ben Davis, Willowtwig, Missouri pippin and Winesap varieties. Those planted this spring are expected to bear a light crop in three years.

All sorts of young healthy, well-rooted plants. Ageratums, Salvias, Heliotropes, Begonias, Geraniums, etc., at prices from five to twenty-five cents. Could not express the nature of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure: "It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1. Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va.
About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a similar attack since.—A. —The claim department of the Santa Fe road has prepared the following statement which covers the different divisions of the road for the month of February: Number injured, passengers, 8; employees, 165; others, 10. Number killed, employees, 4; others, 5; stock, 145. Claims filed, for stock, 114; for fires, 43; other claims, 10.

Henry Myers, of the Santa Fe claim department, made the statement here yesterday that the Santa Fe has more trouble with boys jumping trains in the Hutchinson yards than it has in all of the other towns on the middle division. Whether the boys here are more adventurous or whether there are more bad boys here than at other points he could not say, but Mr. Myers is certain that the boys of this town are a constant worry to the Santa Fe company. It appears to be a fact that the small boys of Hutchinson haunt the railroad yards, and by their actions are ambitious to become angels or cripples early in life. There are dozens of them who do not go to school. They flock together and get into all kinds of mischief, become impudent and lawless, so that their only salvation seems to be to get killed early so as to avoid future misery.—Hutchinson News.

The Santa Fe Railway company is putting the standard dial on all the standard clocks of the system.

The dials which were recently adopted by the Santa Fe are numbered from one to sixty so that a person may tell at a glance exactly what minute the hand points to.

They are placed at different points over the system, 63 Seth Thomas No. 19 regulators, this being the clock adopted by the road as its standard clock, which are to be fitted with this dial.

The dials are manufactured by the Connecticut factory and are being placed on the clocks as fast as delivered. Already the clocks on the Gulf road have been fitted with these dials, 15 in all. Only a part of the clocks on the Santa have been changed but the work will be completed inside the next 30 days.

It is safe to say that more trees, shrubs and flowers were planted in this county this spring, than ever before. Probably twice as many would be conservative. The unusual amount of moisture promises well for every thing planted and interest in horticulture and horticulture is markedly on the increase.—Kinsley Mercury.

There is no real search in Kentucky for Goebel's murderer. All that has been done, beginning with the suppression of the inquest and the offer of the $100,000 corruption fund, is part of a scheme for selfish political and personal advantage. If the murderer is known to the Goebels they are hiding him in order to smirch Republicans and to strengthen the Goebel law for its one single purpose, that of substituting for the will of the people the will of a gang of cheats and usurpers.—Globe-Democrat.

Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

The Royal is made from the most highly refined and wholesome ingredients, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is cheaper at its price than any similar article.

Samples of mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food, and in many cities their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a corrosive poison, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

Particular people prefer pure pleasant, palatable medicine. Most mothers maintain Gattin's Cough Syrup is the best of all cough and cold remedies because it cures quickly, and is so pleasant children cry for it. It cures croup. For sale by all druggists.

Weather and Crops in New Mexico.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, New Mexico Station, issues the following bulletin:

The week ending Monday, April 16, was cold, cloudy and windy, with frosts nearly every night in higher altitudes. On the mornings of the 10th and 11th the temperature fell considerably below freezing in nearly all sections, which froze many apricot and early peach blooms. Early fruits are blooming unusually full, and the effects of the cold weather will prove beneficial in thinning the crops, as there still remains sufficient buds to promise an excellent yield. The general snows and rains of the 15th and 16th will further improve the favorable conditions of the season, and at this writing the prospects for all farming and stock interests are most excellent. Early alfalfa was slightly nipped by the frosts, but the injurious effects are more than offset by the beneficial rains. With few exceptions the soil is in the best condition for working, and gardening, sowing oats and alfalfa seedling has progressed very satisfactorily. Wheat sowing is about finished. Grass on the ranges is starting rapidly, and stock is in very good condition for the season. The approaching lambing season promises to be very successful. Local streams are still low, but will be greatly augmented by the recent precipitation, and in northern sections at least it is thought that the snow in the mountains is sufficient to insure a fairly steady supply until summer rains set in.

Edwards county cattlemen have learned the lesson that it does not pay to carry more cattle than can be cared for. The old idea of getting breeds of cattle that can "rustle" for themselves is obsolete. It is the owner that does the rustling now and he prefers the breeds that will bring the top of the market if cared for. He does the rustling and reaps the benefit.—Kinsley Mercury.

Newspapers should always give the dates of events. Often, clippings are sent to us stating that some one died "last Friday," or, the association met "last Saturday." Locally the date may be unnecessary, but at a distance the dateless clipping is a vexation.—Western School Journal.
